Simon Bull
Bournemouth Borough Councillor

Simon Bull was elected as Bournemouth's first Green Councillor in May 2015 for Winton East Ward.

"I will stand with Caroline and strive for what matters. There is a better way of doing politics, a way that listens to the people, a way that creates a healthier, happier future for our children and our children's children. I want a fully funded NHS, an education system that works for every child, access to social care for those who need it and clean air for everyone."

One of only two opposition members on the council, Simon forced the council to rethink the closure of public toilets across the borough. He pushed for action on flooding and is now demanding an investigation into recent allegations made against the Council leader regarding conflict of interest.

ONE MORE TORY BACKBENCHER WILL MAKE NO DIFFERENCE - ANOTHER GREEN MP WILL

Caroline Lucas
Co-leader of the Green Party

Caroline Lucas has been MP for Brighton Pavilion since 2010. She was elected as the UK's first Green Member of Parliament.

"The Tories' dementia tax and their hardline approach to migration are deeply misguided, and reveal a recklessness at the heart of Theresa May's plans."
